

4 WAYS TO KEEP LEARNING AS A LEADER IN YOUR VETERINARY PRACTICE

BREAK THROUGH A CHALLENGING SITUATION

Learning to work with people who think or behave differently than we do is a skill that leaders should improve.

GO FIND LEADERS YOU RESPECT AND LEARN HOW THEY THINK

Learn what ideas they want from their people and how they plan to get those ideas. Ask them how they think the culture needs to change and how they will influence that change.

READ ABOUT FAILURES TOO

We learn from our mistakes and sometimes we can learn from the mistakes of others as well.

TEACH

One of the greatest ways to learn is to teach. It may sound counterintuitive, but as we work to help others lead more effectively, we force ourselves to articulate how we approach leadership.
