

Bad Leadership Limits Growth In Your Veterinary Practice

Using fear and aggression is the quickest path to behavior change, but it isn't sustainable.

① People work hard to topple dictators

Employees increasingly look for opportunities to resist, challenge, and ultimately rid themselves of the leader.

② Compliance instead of commitment limits growth

Most people will never commit to a leader who doesn't have their best interests in mind.

③ Great performers demand great leaders

Over time, the heavy-handed leader is left with mediocre performers who decide it's better to just do what they are told and collect their paycheck.
